

Pumpkinville History

Pumpkinville is the oldest original pumpkin farm in New York State. Pumpkinville started in the 1960's when Joe and Helen Halloran's teenagers, Tom and Dan, planted a few hills of pumpkins and people stopped by the roadside to buy them. Over the years, displays and buildings were added and a few hills became huge piles as Pumpkinville grew.

Since the move of Pumpkinville by the Pawlowski family in 1996, Pumpkinville has grown even more. Having a much larger area to add annual new attractions, hay-rides, pony rides, farm animals, corn field maze, goat mountain, a barbeque area, picnic pavilion and a pick your own patch has been added.

People enjoy the magical village of Pumpkinville. Make a day of it and plan to stay for lunch or dinner. Visit Pumpkinville and enjoy the spirit of the fall harvest, the beauty of Western New York autumn, and a day full of family fun at our farm.
